Dear colleagues and members,

The Experimental Finance 2017 conference and the Experimental Finance Summer School 2017 are fast approaching. We hope you have already registered and if not, that you will do so soon. More information below.

Meanwhile, we are already thinking ahead to our next events:

- EFRC 2017: There will again be an Experimental Finance Regional Conference North America, this time hosted by Douglas Davis in Richmont, VA.
- EF 2018: We have recently confirmed the venue for next year’s EF conference, which will be hosted by Stefan Trautmann at Heidelberg University in Germany.
- EF 2019: Steffen Andersen will organize the EF 2019 at Copenhagen Business School.

Best regards,
EF 2017 in Nice

The submission deadline for the Experimental Finance 2017 has passed and the organizing committee has made its decisions. The program is shaping up nicely, with 76 presentations planned to be held over the three days of the conference. If you have not yet registered, please do so quickly as we need to organize rooms and catering accordingly. You find the registration form here.

EF Summer School 2017 in Nice

Our first go at organizing an Experimental Finance Summer School has met with considerably more success than we dared hope. We stand at an amazing 35 registered participants who will be spending June 12 through 13 learning about experimental finance topics, design, methodology, software and how to get published. Thanks to all the applicants for their interest and to everybody who forwarded our invitation to suitable candidates! For details about the program, see the EFSS website.

EFRC North America 2017 in Richmond, VA

After the success of our first conference in the U.S., we will this year again have an Experimental Finance Regional Conference in North America. It will be held on October 22, 2018, back-to-back with the ESA North America meeting (October 20-21, 2018). Both events will be organized by a team around Douglas Davis at Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond, VA.

For details see our conference website.

EF 2018 at Heidelberg University, Germany

The EF 2018 will be organized by a team around Stefan Trautmann at Heidelberg University, Germany, from June 20-22, 2018. Steffen Andersen (Copenhagen Business School) and Camelia Kuhnen (University of North Carolina) will join us as keynote speakers.

For details see our conference website.

Table of contents of JBEF Vol. 13 (03/2017)

The latest volume of the Journal of Behavioral and Experimental Finance features the following papers:

- Balafoutas, L., Sutter, M., On the nature of guilt aversion: Insights from a new methodology in the dictator game.
Cao, J., Fischli, M., Rieger, M. O., Should your bank invest for you? Evidence from private banking accounts.

Cordes, H., Dierkes, M., About depression babies and red diaper babies: Do macroeconomic experiences affect everybody’s risk taking in the same way?

Nuzzo, S., Morone, A., Asset markets in the lab: A literature review.

Pak, T.-Y., Choung, Y., Rationality of longevity expectations: Evidence from the Korean Longitudinal Study of Aging.

Zanin, L., Determinants of the conditional probability that a household has informal loans given liquidity constraints regarding access to credit banking channels.

Find the articles here.

Call for information about EF paper publications

The SEF website contains a list of papers which were presented at an Experimental Finance conference and have since been published by a journal. Please be sure to let us know when your own paper was published so we can include it on the website. Simply send us a short mail containing the citation and the year of presentation at an EF conference to office@experimentalfinance.org. We believe that presenting such a list on our website not only helps document the scientific heft of the society, but also increases the visibility of your work.